COAL.
YOU MIGHT SAY
IT'S IN OUR VEINS.

Curtis Nix and his son, Brad, have more than 30 years of combined experience as Continuous Miner Operators at No. 7 Mine. Add to that Brad's mother, grandfather and two uncles have also worked at Jim Walter Resources and you might say coal runs in their veins too.

JIM WALTER RESOURCES

And our veins run deep, over 2,000 feet under the tree covered mountains of Alabama. Steelmakers worldwide have depended on our Blue Creek Coal for over 30 years. Its low sulfur, strong coking properties and high heat values quite simply make Blue Creek Coal the finest metallurgical coal available. Our mines are only a short 250 mile trip by rail or barge to the year-round port of Mobile, Alabama on the Gulf of Mexico assuring our customers dependable delivery. With an annual capacity of over 9 million tons you can see why Jim Walter Resources is the world's largest producer of Blue Creek Coal. Our recoverable reserves ensure we will continue to supply the world with clean burning Blue Creek Coal for decades to come.
